

Some Tales of the Indians

AND THEIR HALF BROTHERS
RELATED BY ONE WHO DWELT LONG AMONGST THEM—PICTURESQUE TRADITIONS AND LEGENDS OF THE NATIVES OF THE WESTERN PLAINS

COMING - OVER - THE - HILL - TELLS A TALE - OF - THE - OX - FESTE - THE - YOUNG - BOYS - STEAL - HORSES - FROM - THE - BLACKFEET - THE - PUR-SUIT - THREE - DAYS - IN - A - BUFFALO - SKELETON - A - SLEEPING - SIOUX - WEL-COME HOME.

(All rights reserved.)

A Long Indian

It is no mean privilege to have talked, in the second decade of the twentieth century, with an Indian who was born in that era, a decade of eighteenth century, a Canadian Indian, who has lived under the reign of George II., George III., George IV., William IV., Victoria, Edward VII., and George V. For 87 years this Indian, who died only two years ago, had been a member of the Hudson's Bay Company, whose sovereignty terminated with the transfer of Rupert's Land from the company to the Dominion of Canada. Such an Indian was my old friend, "Six-shootin' Charlie," or "One-Eye." The Hill, in his ample proof that at the time of his death, two years ago, he was considerably over 120 years of age.

In connection with life among the Crees Indians, there is perhaps nothing more interesting than their stories of the events in by-gone days.

These tales usually related either battles, fought in war with Blackfeet, or to horse-stealing in times of peace. The number of scalps brought home by the victorious Indians was enormous, as well as the number of young women captured and brought along as wives.

One distinguishing feature of this wife-stealing practice was that young women were never scalped—this told me much about the men and aged Indians only.

By the Fire-side

It was often my privilege, during long winter evenings of the late eighties, and early nineties, to drop into the old cabin of our hunting camp, where the dog logs crackled in the fireplace, and the hot blaze roared on its way up the mud chimney. There I sat, with my wife told tales. But let Sack-it-up say for himself.

Peace With the Blackfeet

"When I was 18 years of age my parents with others of our people were camped at McNaughton (Cypress Hills). It was the third month of the New Year. For many months we had been with the Blackfeet, had not troubled us, and our young men were impatient for some hunting. One day we happened to be in camp. Our blood was hot, we wanted for the warpath, but the wise men and counselors had no concern for them only one thing for us to do. If we could not go to war and capture young wives, we could steal horses."

With The Larvae

"Five others with myself, the eldest only 22 years of age, made up a party to go south on foot. We took with us a latrine each, made of a log, and a rabbit hole, and our bows and arrows.

"On these we must depend for food and keep alive. We had eaten along by eight miles through the day, taking turns in sleeping and watching as a guard against attack from an enemy or from wild animals.

Crossing Milk River

At the end of five days we reached Milk River, more than 100 miles from our home. The ice in Milk River was just breaking up. We crossed on the ice floats, many times falling off into the water, owing to the darkness of the night.

When we reached the other side our bodies were cut and bleeding from being crushed among the floating ice.

The Blackfoot Camp

"Three moons came and went before we found a Blackfoot camp which was located in a long deep valley. By this time we had come in sight of the Lofty Hills—the Assiniboin (Rocky Mountains). All day we slept and watched, on top of a high hill. Some time in the evening began to go down and join them. I could do this easily because some time before when I was a mere child I had been in sympathy among the Blackfeet for two years and had learned their language.

At The Blackfoot Dance

"I danced with the others, smoked with their old men, ate and was only sorry because for the time, at least, of my presence, we could not get any women as wives.

"When the dance had become noisy I strolled back to my friends and told them where the horses were. I chose a suitable rider, from the herd of many hundreds. I could not be sure it was a good one, though, on my way out, through the large camp of more than a thousand leather tents I had passed the chief's lodge.

The Chief's Stallion

"There I had seen tethered near door his favorite black stallion. He was tall, his mane as long as a woman's hair, and glossy as feathers, and the veins stood out like fine red lines.

"I made my choice and, though it was a long distance, led the horse on all four legs, led him to the tether string, and led him to the stable. Standing out my arm I cut the tether string, and how it worked out in Manitoba.

The Report of the Assessment Taxation Committee of Manitoba makes the following statement on our present system of rural schools:

"The present system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units, the result being that the small size of the independent rural school districts, and the creation of Municipal Board Schools, are the main causes in maintaining the barriers which prevent education from spreading properly in those districts. This is the main way for the establishment of efficient educational methods, supplying our rural districts with the needed means of larger and better schools, all the advantages enjoyed by those urban centers, having no regard to prospective increases on the requirements of schools, a great deal more could be done if the schools could be paid by present expenditures, if the taxation units were enlarged and more widely distributed, along the line suggested."

"Next day it was decided we must part with many of our animals, as we were not to be over-weighted. So off we went, gradually drawing nearer. They had only to ride straight at us, while we must ride first right, then left, as we were leading our horses bunch together.

"Next day it was decided we must part with many of our animals, as we were not to be over-weighted. So off we went, gradually drawing nearer. They had only to ride straight at us, while we must ride first right, then left, as we were leading our horses bunch together.

"On coming out of the skeleton I could only walk with the help of a stick, owing to my long stay in the snow. Soon the Blackfeet passed me unnoticed. For three days I remained in the skeleton of the third day of my confinement the Blackfeet rode back to their camp, leaving me behind.

"Just then I saw an old buffalo skeleton, partly covered by the skin, which I quickly made out of. Soon the Blackfeet passed me unnoticed. For three days I remained in the skeleton of the third day of my confinement the Blackfeet rode back to their camp, leaving me behind.

"On coming out of the skeleton I could only walk with the help of a stick, owing to my long stay in the snow. Soon the Blackfeet passed me unnoticed. For three days I remained in the skeleton of the third day of my confinement the Blackfeet rode back to their camp, leaving me behind.

"In addition the following speakers will address the convention: A. W. A. negative, Mr. Lewis N. Brink, to debate a general discussion with place, M. A. W. Cook, of the Department of Education will present and conduct a question session.

(2) Consolidated Schools. A debate will be staged, "Resolved, that consolidated schools are best type of schools for Rural Districts." Leader of the affirmative, A. W. A. negative, Mr. Lewis N. Brink, to debate a general discussion with place, M. A. W. Cook, of the Department of Education will present and conduct a question session.

(3) A Uniform System of Books. Dr. J. M. Anderson, Dr. J. M. A. negative, Mr. George Wilson, Mr. Alexander, University of Alberta, and other speakers.

The exact date and time this year cannot be given, as the matter of attendance will be interesting, instructive, entertaining and instructive.

Each School District should send the annual general membership fee of $2,00 to the Secretary, J. H. Cawelti, 1005—10th Street, at once.

The railway fare of all delegates will be paid.

Any trustee other than the official representative may attend but will not be entitled to a vote. All resolutions should be sent in at once to the Secretary.

All delegates should purchase a single railway fare and get a standard certificate."

"Quickly and quietly I cut the string and mounted, leaving the hunter sleeping on.

A Find of Horses

As darkness fell around me I approached another ravine where smoke could be seen rising into the air.

"I had come upon a camp of Sioux Indians. By waiting until the evening darkness began I had a chance to find their herd of cattle. I counted 30 head, and start for home.

Home At Last

"At night came on again I was within sight of my home. As I drew near, many of my friends chasing the death walk having been told that I was killed by the Blackfeet. I slept out at night because I had no place to sleep.

"All were glad to see me, and I have not forgotten the young women who crowded around me, each one trying to be the first to kiss me."

A New Educational System is Necessary

Discussion of Radical Changes in Rural System and General Administration

The annual convention of the Saskatchewan School Trustees Association will be held in the Third Avenue Methodist Church, Regina, on February 23rd, 24th and 25th next.

Matters which vitally affect every School District in the Province will be discussed. The importance of this convention and it is extremely important that every School District be represented. The priests and teachers belonging to the various parishes will represent their views on these important questions.

(1) Municipal School Administration. William Liverseth, the chairman of that First School Board in Regina, will be present to speak on the system of rural schools.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The present system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

"The first school system is a relic of former days and was inevitable in the unorganized territory when and where education had to be taken care of in the individual manner as it was, but it should never have been carried into the present organized municipal units.

Pithy Paragraphs For Busy People

THE WEEK'S NEWS IN TERSE TERMS

Whalers to Stay South

The whaling fleet of the Canadian Whaling Company with offices in Victoria and Seattle, will not be sent north this season, owing to the present tendency in the oil market, according to a statement today by C. La Marquand, local manager. "We don't think the whalers are going out this year on account of the low price of oil," he said.

Killed by Negro

Mrs. Joseph Chernock, 35 years of age, was murdered recently in her home on the Hillside, Toronto, by an unknown man believed to be a negro. Police, friends and neighbors quickly gathered and it is believed they have surrounded the murderer in a weed patch.

Sugar Price Slip

Aubrey Bates, of New York, last week quoted fine granulated sugar at seven cents per pound, a reduction of 4 cents from the Federal Sugar Company's previous further reduction of 15 points, bringing the price down to 6.85 cents a pound, the low point again reached in New York at from eight to ten cents per pound.

Mad Dog Sets Impetus to Runners

George Dudley was recently competing in a walking race at Fleet, Ipswich, England, when he was bitten by a mad dog and died of rabies and his brain. Rabies being prevalent in the district, Dudley increased his speed and reached the finish before the dogs which happened to be exactly opposite the winning post. Dudley had the bite treated and was discovered that he had won the race with 100 yards to spare.

Dead Set Up

The dead body of Charles Edwards, a returned soldier who was found leaning against the wall of the Windsor Inn, Toronto, Monday morning, and was discovered where a passerby touched it and it fell to the ground.

Mistake Dies

Rev. John Semmens, former Methodist minister aged 72, died in Winnipeg recently. For many years he had charge of the church at the time of his denomination at Norway House and other isolated posts in Northern Manitoba.

Buffalo For Alberta

In a list of suggestions to the Canadian government, a gay hearted S. G. France, a prominent merchant, urges that part of the Wainwright buffalo herd be brought to the Sarcee Indians Reserve which adjoins the city and which furnishes thousands of acres of ideal range.

Legislates Out of Wedlock Births

In the Legislature, in Toronto, last week, General Renfrew introduced a bill providing that all parents of my child born outside of wedlock, or of lawful wedlock, have heretofore married or hereafter intermarried, such child shall for all purposes be deemed to be born legitimate status from the time of birth.

Rom Preparations Postponed

Plans of the Saskatchewan Liquor Commission to prosecute local export companies and individuals, have suddenly uprooted. The sudden disappearance of William Craig, employed as a "spotted" by prohibition enforcement agents, has caused some alarm. Craig is known to have carried a bundle of evidence. Another enforcement agent testified that he and four others had opened Craig's office and helped him to state it. Questioned as to the whereabouts of Craig, one man declared: "By this time he's probably strumming a ukulele on the beach at Waikiki."

Meeting of Unemployed

A mass meeting of some 300 unemployed in Calgary recently passed a resolution favoring the opening of trade with Soviet Russia as a means of providing employment and solving the unemployed problem. For temporary purposes, the meeting decided upon a delegation to go to the Soviet Union to see what could be done for the relief of the unemployed.

Newspaper Makes Attack

Newspapers in Montreal are publishing statistics showing the huge profits landlords are making by raising rents to a level which makes it difficult for knowing full well that if their present tenants cannot afford to stay, there are many persons who can afford to do so. Some are only too glad to obtain a home at any price. A prominent Montreal newspaper gave a long list of cases of people who had to pay rents from below $50 per tenant to over $100. Attempts made to force tenants to accept lower rents were often beaten by the money required to construct houses is not forthcoming.

Dissipative Living Charge

The Royal Agricultural Society have refused to attend the National Conference to be held in London, on the question of the entry of Canada into the League, despite the proposal to withdraw the restriction.

Fight to Dynamite Scotland Yard

It is reported that secret agents discovered a plot to blow up Old Scotland Yard in London, which was being planned by members of the Royal Irish Constabulary. The newspaper states that the plan was for the conspirators to pose as workmen and that their explosives would be concealed in the building, but according to the report, the plotters failed at the last minute.

Bug Food For Families

Many cities and towns in the Dominion have failed to take advantage of the Federal Government's offer to bear the cost of insecticides to combat the tick-tattle family. In this connection there has come heart-breaking news of the condition of affairs in Ontario. The tick-tattle family winter is waging war on the West Indies, with stop off at nearly every town in the West Indies.

There is a precedent in the case of the present Minister of Justice, for a revised judge to be appointed to the bench. The Sir Charles Fitzpatrick, who resigned as Chief Justice to become Lieutenant-Governor of Quebec, the judicial service was given a chance to review its tenure of office. After his term is completed, it will be made shortly by a committee of the legislature.

The body of Scott was never recovered and there has been much uncertainty as to its disposal by those responsible.

There is a precedent in the case of the present Minister of Justice, for a revised judge to be appointed to the bench.

The body of Scott was never recovered and there has been much uncertainty as to its disposal by those responsible.

There is a precedent in the case of the present Minister of Justice, for a revised judge to be appointed to the bench.

The body of Scott was never recovered and there has been much uncertainty as to its disposal by those responsible.

There is a precedent in the case of the present Minister of Justice, for a revised judge to be appointed to the bench.

The body of Scott was never recovered and there has been much uncertainty as to its disposal by those responsible.

There is a precedent in the case of the present Minister of Justice, for a revised judge to be appointed to the bench.

The body of Scott was never recovered and there has been much uncertainty as to its disposal by those responsible.

There is a precedent in the case of the present Minister of Justice, for a revised judge to be appointed to the bench.

The body of Scott was never recovered and there has been much uncertainty as to its disposal by those responsible.

There is a precedent in the case of the present Minister of Justice, for a revised judge to be appointed to the bench.

The body of Scott was never recovered and there has been much uncertainty as to its disposal by those responsible.

There is a precedent in the case of the present Minister of Justice, for a revised judge to be appointed to the bench.

The body of Scott was never recovered and there has been much uncertainty as to its disposal by those responsible.

There is a precedent in the case of the present Minister of Justice, for a revised judge to be appointed to the bench.

The body of Scott was never recovered and there has been much uncertainty as to its disposal by those responsible.

There is a precedent in the case of the present Minister of Justice, for a revised judge to be appointed to the bench.

The body of Scott was never recovered and there has been much uncertainty as to its disposal by those responsible.

There is a precedent in the case of the present Minister of Justice, for a revised judge to be appointed to the bench.

The body of Scott was never recovered and there has been much uncertainty as to its disposal by those responsible.

There is a precedent in the case of the present Minister of Justice, for a revised judge to be appointed to the bench.

The body of Scott was never recovered and there has been much uncertainty as to its disposal by those responsible.

There is a precedent in the case of the present Minister of Justice, for a revised judge to be appointed to the bench.

The body of Scott was never recovered and there has been much uncertainty as to its disposal by those responsible.

There is a precedent in the case of the present Minister of Justice, for a revised judge to be appointed to the bench.

The body of Scott was never recovered and there has been much uncertainty as to its disposal by those responsible.

There is a precedent in the case of the present Minister of Justice, for a revised judge to be appointed to the bench.

The body of Scott was never recovered and there has been much uncertainty as to its disposal by those responsible.

There is a precedent in the case of the present Minister of Justice, for a revised judge to be appointed to the bench.

The body of Scott was never recovered and there has been much uncertainty as to its disposal by those responsible.

There is a precedent in the case of the present Minister of Justice, for a revised judge to be appointed to the bench.

The body of Scott was never recovered and there has been much uncertainty as to its disposal by those responsible.

There is a precedent in the case of the present Minister of Justice, for a revised judge to be appointed to the bench.

The body of Scott was never recovered and there has been much uncertainty as to its disposal by those responsible.

There is a precedent in the case of the present Minister of Justice, for a revised judge to be appointed to the bench.

The body of Scott was never recovered and there has been much uncertainty as to its disposal by those responsible.

There is a precedent in the case of the present Minister of Justice, for a revised judge to be appointed to the bench.

The body of Scott was never recovered and there has been much uncertainty as to its disposal by those responsible.

There is a precedent in the case of the present Minister of Justice, for a revised judge to be appointed to the bench.

The body of Scott was never recovered and there has been much uncertainty as to its disposal by those responsible.

There is a precedent in the case of the present Minister of Justice, for a revised judge to be appointed to the bench.

The body of Scott was never recovered and there has been much uncertainty as to its disposal by those responsible.

There is a precedent in the case of the present Minister of Justice, for a revised judge to be appointed to the bench.

The body of Scott was never recovered and there has been much uncertainty as to its disposal by those responsible.

There is a precedent in the case of the present Minister of Justice, for a revised judge to be appointed to the bench.

The body of Scott was never recovered and there has been much uncertainty as to its disposal by those responsible.

There is a precedent in the case of the present Minister of Justice, for a revised judge to be appointed to the bench.

The body of Scott was never recovered and there has been much uncertainty as to its disposal by those responsible.

There is a precedent in the case of the present Minister of Justice, for a revised judge to be appointed to the bench.

The body of Scott was never recovered and there has been much uncertainty as to its disposal by those responsible.

There is a precedent in the case of the present Minister of Justice, for a revised judge to be appointed to the bench.

The body of Scott was never recovered and there has been much uncertainty as to its disposal by those responsible.

There is a precedent in the case of the present Minister of Justice, for a revised judge to be appointed to the bench.

The body of Scott was never recovered and there has been much uncertainty as to its disposal by those responsible.

There is a precedent in the case of the present Minister of Justice, for a revised judge to be appointed to the bench.

The body of Scott was never recovered and there has been much uncertainty as to its disposal by those responsible.

There is a precedent in the case of the present Minister of Justice, for a revised judge to be appointed to the bench.

The body of Scott was never recovered and there has been much uncertainty as to its disposal by those responsible.

There is a precedent in the case of the present Minister of Justice, for a revised judge to be appointed to the bench.

The body of Scott was never recovered and there has been much uncertainty as to its disposal by those responsible.

There is a precedent in the case of the present Minister of Justice, for a revised judge to be appointed to the bench.

The body of Scott was never recovered and there has been much uncertainty as to its disposal by those responsible.

There is a precedent in the case of the present Minister of Justice, for a revised judge to be appointed to the bench.

The body of Scott was never recovered and there has been much uncertainty as to its disposal by those responsible.

There is a precedent in the case of the present Minister of Justice, for a revised judge to be appointed to the bench.

The body of Scott was never recovered and there has been much uncertainty as to its disposal by those responsible.

There is a precedent in the case of the present Minister of Justice, for a revised judge to be appointed to the bench.

The body of Scott was never recovered and there has been much uncertainty as to its disposal by those responsible.

There is a precedent in the case of the present Minister of Justice, for a revised judge to be appointed to the bench.

The body of Scott was never recovered and there has been much uncertainty as to its disposal by those responsible.

There is a precedent in the case of the present Minister of Justice, for a revised judge to be appointed to the bench.

The body of Scott was never recovered and there has been much uncertainty as to its disposal by those responsible.

There is a precedent in the case of the present Minister of Justice, for a revised judge to be appointed to the bench.

The body of Scott was never recovered and there has been much uncertainty as to its disposal by those responsible.

There is a precedent in the case of the present Minister of Justice, for a revised judge to be appointed to the bench.

The body of Scott was never recovered and there has been much uncertainty as to its disposal by those responsible.

There is a precedent in the case of the present Minister of Justice, for a revised judge to be appointed to the bench.

The body of Scott was never recovered and there has been much uncertainty as to its disposal by those responsible.

There is a precedent in the case of the present Minister of Justice, for a revised judge to be appointed to the bench.

The body of Scott was never recovered and there has been much uncertainty as to its disposal by those responsible.

There is a precedent in the case of the present Minister of Justice, for a revised judge to be appointed to the bench.

The body of Scott was never recovered and there has been much uncertainty as to its disposal by those responsible.

There is a precedent in the case of the present Minister of Justice, for a revised judge to be appointed to the bench.

The body of Scott was never recovered and there has been much uncertainty as to its disposal by those responsible.

There is a precedent in the case of the present Minister of Justice, for a revised judge to be appointed to the bench.

The body of Scott was never recovered and there has been much uncertainty as to its disposal by those responsible.

There is a precedent in the case of the present Minister of Justice, for a revised judge to be appointed to the bench.

The body of Scott was never recovered and there has been much uncertainty as to its disposal by those responsible.

There is a precedent in the case of the present Minister of Justice, for a revised judge to be appointed to the bench.

The body of Scott was never recovered and there has been much uncertainty as to its disposal by those responsible.

There is a precedent in the case of the present Minister of Justice, for a revised judge to be appointed to the bench.

The body of Scott was never recovered and there has been much uncertainty as to its disposal by those responsible.

There is a precedent in the case of the present Minister of Justice, for a revised judge to be appointed to the bench.

The body of Scott was never recovered and there has been much uncertainty as to its disposal by those responsible.

There is a precedent in the case of the present Minister of Justice, for a revised judge to be appointed to the bench.

The body of Scott was never recovered and there has been much uncertainty as to its disposal by those responsible.

There is a precedent in the case of the present Minister of Justice, for a revised judge to be appointed to the bench.

The body of Scott was never recovered and there has been much uncertainty as to its disposal by those responsible.

There is a precedent in the case of the present Minister of Justice, for a revised judge to be appointed to the bench.

The body of Scott was never recovered and there has been much uncertainty as to its disposal by those responsible.

Indians Native Held Dogs Sacred

M. N. Chandi, the Indian leader, has addressed a letter to the Duke of Connaught, who is in India, to inquire concerning the killing of dogs by natives.

The Duke of Connaught, in his reply, said that the killing of dogs by natives

is a common practice among the tribes.

The Duke of Connaught, in his reply,

said that the killing of dogs by natives

is a common practice among the tribes.

The Duke of Connaught, in his reply,

said that the killing of dogs by natives

is a common practice among the tribes.

The Duke of Connaught, in his reply,

said that the killing of dogs by natives

is a common practice among the tribes.

The Duke of Connaught, in his reply,

said that the killing of dogs by natives

is a common practice among the tribes.

The Duke of Connaught, in his reply,

said that the killing of dogs by natives

is a common practice among the tribes.

The Duke of Connaught, in his reply,

said that the killing of dogs by natives

is a common practice among the tribes.

The Duke of Connaught, in his reply,

said that the killing of dogs by natives

is a common practice among the tribes.

The Duke of Connaught, in his reply,

said that the killing of dogs by natives

is a common practice among the tribes.

The Duke of Connaught, in his reply,

said that the killing of dogs by natives

is a common practice among the tribes.

The Duke of Connaught, in his reply,

said that the killing of dogs by natives

is a common practice among the tribes.

The Duke of Connaught, in his reply,

said that the killing of dogs by natives

is a common practice among the tribes.

The Duke of Connaught, in his reply,

said that the killing of dogs by natives

is a common practice among the tribes.

The Duke of Connaught, in his reply,

said that the killing of dogs by natives

is a common practice among the tribes.

The Duke of Connaught, in his reply,

said that the killing of dogs by natives

is a common practice among the tribes.

The Duke of Connaught, in his reply,

said that the killing of dogs by natives

is a common practice among the tribes.

The Duke of Connaught, in his reply,

said that the killing of dogs by natives

is a common practice among the tribes.

The Duke of Connaught, in his reply,

said that the killing of dogs by natives

is a common practice among the tribes.

The Duke of Connaught, in his reply,

said that the killing of dogs by natives

is a common practice among the tribes.

The Duke of Connaught, in his reply,

said that the killing of dogs by natives

is a common practice among the tribes.

The Duke of Connaught, in his reply,

said that the killing of dogs by natives

is a common practice among the tribes.

The Duke of Connaught, in his reply,

said that the killing of dogs by natives

is a common practice among the tribes.

The Duke of Connaught, in his reply,

said that the killing of dogs by natives

is a common practice among the tribes.

The Duke of Connaught, in his reply,

said that the killing of dogs by natives

is a common practice among the tribes.

The Duke of Connaught, in his reply,

said that the killing of dogs by natives

is a common practice among the tribes.

The Duke of Connaught, in his reply,

said that the killing of dogs by natives

is a common practice among the tribes.

The Duke of Connaught, in his reply,

said that the killing of dogs by natives

is a common practice among the tribes.

The Duke of Connaught, in his reply,

said that the killing of dogs by natives

is a common practice among the tribes.

The Duke of Connaught, in his reply,

said that the killing of dogs by natives

is a common practice among the tribes.

The Duke of Connaught, in his reply,

said that the killing of dogs by natives

is a common practice among the tribes.

The Duke of Connaught, in his reply,

said that the killing of dogs by natives

is a common practice among the tribes.

The Duke of Connaught, in his reply,

said that the killing of dogs by natives

is a common practice among the tribes.

The Duke of Connaught, in his reply,

said that the killing of dogs by natives

is a common practice among the tribes.

The Duke of Connaught, in his reply,

said that the killing of dogs by natives

is a common practice among the tribes.

The Duke of Connaught, in his reply,

said that the killing of dogs by natives

is a common practice among the tribes.

The Duke of Connaught, in his reply,

said that the killing of dogs

MONTH OLD BABY HAD SKIN TROUBLE

On Face and Hands Itched and Burned. Cuticura Heals.

"My baby was only a month old when her face and hands began to get red and scaly. The eczema had spread to the feet and turned the skin very hard and burned. She was so uncomfortable that she could not sleep."

"I have waited nine months with Dr. Condon Roop and Ointments, and have never seen such a change in my baby since when she was born." (Signed) Elizabeth Lambeth, Gleichen, Alta., May 7, 1916.

Cuticura Heals Skin Troubles and Tales are all you need for all toilet needs. Bath oil, Soap, Soothing Salve, Etc., Cleverton 28 & 30. Sold by Dr. D. Paul St. Montreal. Frederick D. Goodchild Co.

Women's Corner.

A FEW RAMBLING REMARKS
BY A PRAIRIE WOMAN.

I have spoken several times through these columns of the foolishness of being wasteful and how desirable it is to be thrifty, saving and to live within one's means. I am sure that Mrs. MacCawber in "David Copperfield," by Charles Dickens, "in one pound of shilling and a half shilling and eleven pence half-penny, peace and contentment; but, income one pound outgo two pounds, about as much misery." This is very true, as all people with any experience have discovered. We must be thrifty, we must be careful with our money, we must be careful with our time, we must be careful with our health, which some people have had to endure have brought them a very keen realization of the necessity of being thrifty and saving and they come to love the money for its own sake. Thriftiness gives them pleasure that which they are denied. Also Prairie Women is open to look up any desired information.

"Very," agreed Miss Ogiville, biting her lip thoughtfully. "You mean that Martha is more than she thinks she is striking?" she ventured timidly.

"Yes," replied Miss Mitchell, "that is what I mean. I think she is a good girl, but she is not as good as she appears to be."

We should like to receive Hospital Friends from our friends and an award will be made to the one considered most generally helpful. Your name and number will be submitted.

Dominion Express Money Orders are on sale in five thousand offices throughout Canada.

adies." Yes, indeed, many of us would soften our voices and modify even our inward criticisms of others. We are not perfect, nor are any of our friends and associates. We are travelling one road with the inevitable ending; that is, we are bound to suffer pain, weariness and anxiety; that we have weaknesses and failings, and that we finally will come to each the visitant which cannot be gainsaid, so why not make opportunity for life, let us make our voices softer and our hearts gentler towards those around us, not tomorrow or next week, but today. *

In some of the magazines which are published over the line there are references to the ability of women in public life. True, during the last few years we have been doing wonderful things, presented at Hazel Brae was very fortunate indeed.

"Did not it always seem that Miss Mitchell was of a very determined disposition and was hard to find anyone who would be satisfied with her temperament exactly, and then again, many wars and rumors of war and the quiet little Scotswoman Miss Mitchell has been the talk of the scene, two years before, since which time she had been out, but, rather to enhance the mental rivalry between men and women. There are clever women, clever men, dull men, but he is a clever man and a clever woman there can be no comparison, and the world is full of talent which the world of clever men express their sterling manners, and so the capabilities of one kind another were inevitable and the comparisons harmonious but, nevertheless, the world is very much the same, the world is the same, the world is divided against itself cannot stand.

* * *

Prairie Woman is open to reviews on any subject which may interest you, and I hope this column and is desirous of giving help and advice to any who may have problems to solve.

"Very," agreed Miss Ogiville, biting her lip thoughtfully. "You mean that Martha is more than she thinks she is striking?" she ventured timidly.

"Yes," replied Miss Mitchell, "that is what I mean. I think she is a good girl, but she is not as good as she appears to be."

We should like to receive Hospital Friends from our friends and an award will be made to the one considered most generally helpful. Your name and number will be submitted.

Dominion Express Money Orders are on sale in five thousand offices throughout Canada.

A THOUGHT FOR EVERY DAY

Sunday

Ab. could love be obtained for love's sake?

But the love-hated and love-hated are not worth what it represents. As soon as it becomes more to me individualized, then it is more dangerous of this narrow attitude towards money is not always found amidst the world, but it may be found in the very poor. For instance there are the stories which are read in the newspapers, of the rich and the poor, and people who have been living in abject poverty and misery, suddenly dying and money being found in their pockets, and in stockings, which might have alleviated and brought comfort to them in their days of poverty. Money was worth only money to them; it did not represent anything else.

* * *

The other day I read a poem which interested me greatly, as it laid stress on the fact that I think it is necessary for us each to learn, that is to live a day at a time and to create all the happiness we possibly can, instead of dreading as it comes. After all we are only certain of today; tomorrow may change.

Often if we but realized how near some of our dearest friends were to the border of death, we would often weep and still our criticism of them. Not so very long ago I heard a young woman say to her mother, "I don't know what is going to happen! If I had had any idea that Mary — was not going to live more than another year or two, how often I would have softened my voice to her, and how gentle I would have been with her, and I could never have laughed at her."

* * *

Monday

There are two unanswerable questions in life, the first is illegible and the other, being late for dinner.

* * *

Tuesday

It is best to accept with a good grace the fact that we must sometimes be the "weak link" just like other people.

Wednesday

There's always lots of other things you can be sorry for instead of yourself.

* * *

Thursday

You'll find, if you whistle a tune, Or go singing your way along, Many things the wife will ignore you soon.

And a chorus will swell your song.

* * *

Friday

El. there's trouble in this world. Money, Money and things we can never make out the cost of. And all as we've got to do is to trusten—to do the right thing as far as we know, and to trusten.

* * *

Saturday

Of all spirits, I believe the spirit of judging to be the worst, and it has had the rule of me.

Now, however, I believe that it has hindered my progress in love and in gentleness more than anything else.

“Martha”

or
THE HOME OF
HER ADOPTION
BY E. L.
(All Rights Reserved)

This party presents one or two problems, remarked Miss Mitchell, as she sat in her office at the hospital. "I have had a conference with her assistant, a little, dark, pale-faced woman, whom I think it would be better to agree with Miss Mitchell. They had never been known to clash on any point, which in an ordinary case would be the cause of friction between them. They are perfectly compatible, and the two of them do not attempt to rival but rather to enhance the qualities of the other. I fail to see how there are reasons for mental rivalry between men and women. There are clever women, clever men, dull men, but he is a clever man and a clever woman there can be no comparison, and the world is full of them."

Perhaps some people wonder what a company of women engaged in an industrial occupation, living in a charming home could find to quarrel about, if they do not manage to progress in the same nature, meeting each other at meal times, and in social functions, visiting with each other for position, getting dressed with each other's society, and so on. The girls have clashes and disagreements of one kind and another were inevitable, but the two of them had proved somewhat successful in this regard.

"Did they call this a furnished kitchen?" asked Miss Ogiville, biting her lip thoughtfully.

"Yes," agreed Miss Ogiville, biting her lip thoughtfully. "You mean that Martha is more than she thinks she is striking?" she ventured timidly.

"Very," replied Miss Mitchell, "that is what I mean. I think she is a good girl, but she is not as good as she appears to be."

We should like to receive Hospital Friends from our friends and an award will be made to the one considered most generally helpful. Your name and number will be submitted.

Dominion Express Money Orders are on sale in five thousand offices throughout Canada.

A THOUGHT FOR EVERY DAY

Sunday

Ab. could love be obtained for love's sake?

But the love-hated and love-hated are not worth what it represents. As soon as it becomes more to me individualized, then it is more dangerous of this narrow attitude towards money is not always found amidst the world, but it may be found in the very poor. For instance there are the stories which are read in the newspapers, of the rich and the poor, and people who have been living in abject poverty and misery, suddenly dying and money being found in their pockets, and in stockings, which might have alleviated and brought comfort to them in their days of poverty. Money was worth only money to them; it did not represent anything else.

* * *

The other day I read a poem which interested me greatly, as it laid stress on the fact that I think it is necessary for us each to learn, that is to live a day at a time and to create all the happiness we possibly can, instead of dreading as it comes. After all we are only certain of today; tomorrow may change.

Often if we but realized how near some of our dearest friends were to the border of death, we would often weep and still our criticism of them. Not so very long ago I heard a young woman say to her mother, "I don't know what is going to happen! If I had had any idea that Mary — was not going to live more than another year or two, how often I would have softened my voice to her, and how gentle I would have been with her, and I could never have laughed at her."

* * *

Monday

There are two unanswerable

questions in life, the first is illegible and the other, being late for dinner.

* * *

Tuesday

It is best to accept with a good grace the fact that we must sometimes be the "weak link" just like other people.

Wednesday

There's always lots of other things you can be sorry for instead of yourself.

* * *

Thursday

You'll find, if you whistle a tune,

Or go singing your way along,

Many things the wife will ignore you soon.

And a chorus will swell your song.

* * *

Friday

El. there's trouble in this

world. Money, Money and things

we can never make out the cost of.

And all as we've got to do is to

trusten—to do the right

thing as far as we know, and to

trusten.

* * *

Saturday

Of all spirits, I believe the spirit of judging to be the worst,

and it has had the rule of me.

Now, however, I believe that it has hindered my progress in love and in gentleness more than anything else.

* * *

Friday

El. there's trouble in this

world. Money, Money and things

we can never make out the cost of.

And all as we've got to do is to

trusten—to do the right

thing as far as we know, and to

trusten.

* * *

Friday

El. there's trouble in this

world. Money, Money and things

we can never make out the cost of.

And all as we've got to do is to

trusten—to do the right

thing as far as we know, and to

trusten.

* * *

Friday

El. there's trouble in this

world. Money, Money and things

we can never make out the cost of.

And all as we've got to do is to

trusten—to do the right

thing as far as we know, and to

trusten.

* * *

Friday

El. there's trouble in this

world. Money, Money and things

we can never make out the cost of.

And all as we've got to do is to

trusten—to do the right

thing as far as we know, and to

trusten.

* * *

Friday

El. there's trouble in this

world. Money, Money and things

we can never make out the cost of.

And all as we've got to do is to

trusten—to do the right

thing as far as we know, and to

trusten.

* * *

Friday

El. there's trouble in this

world. Money, Money and things

we can never make out the cost of.

And all as we've got to do is to

trusten—to do the right

thing as far as we know, and to

trusten.

* * *

Friday

El. there's trouble in this

world. Money, Money and things

we can never make out the cost of.

And all as we've got to do is to

trusten—to do the right

thing as far as we know, and to

trusten.

* * *

Friday

El. there's trouble in this

world. Money, Money and things

we can never make out the cost of.

And all as we've got to do is to

trusten—to do the right

thing as far as we know, and to

trusten.

* * *

Friday

El. there's trouble in this

world. Money, Money and things

we can never make out the cost of.

And all as we've got to do is to

trusten—to do the right

thing as far as we know, and to

trusten.

* * *

Friday

El. there's trouble in this

world. Money, Money and things

we can never make out the cost of.

And all as we've got to do is to

trusten—to do the right

thing as far as we know, and to

trusten.

* * *

Friday

El. there's trouble in this

world. Money, Money and things

we can never make out the cost of.

And all as we've got to do is to

trusten—to do the right

thing as far as we know, and to

trusten.

* * *

Friday

El. there's trouble in this

world. Money, Money and things

we can never make out the cost of.

And all as we've got to do is to

trusten—to do the right

thing as far as we know, and to

trusten.

* * *

Friday

El. there's trouble in this

world. Money, Money and things

we can never make out the cost of.

And all as we've got to do is to

trusten—to do the right

thing as far as we know, and to

trusten.

* * *

Friday

El. there's trouble in this

world. Money, Money and things

we can never make out the cost of.

And all as we've got to do is to

trusten—to do the right

thing as far as we know, and to

trusten.

* * *

Friday

El. there's trouble in this

world. Money, Money and things

we can never make out the cost of.

